

WEINGUT AM STEIN

Ludwig Knoll and his wife, Sandra, have built a stunning winery in the heart of Würzburg's famous "Stein" vineyard. It is an architectural marvel that combines ultra-modern design with a deep respect for the culture and traditions of the area.

They are the fifth generation to run the 50-acre estate, which was founded in 1890. Silvaner, generally regarded as the Franken region's most distinctive variety, accounts for about 25 percent of their vineyards, which include Würzburger Stein and another top-rated "Stein" vineyard in the nearby village of Stetten.

LUDWIG KNOLL SILVANER

This estate Silvaner from Ludwig Knoll beautifully captures the unique flinty minerality of the Franken region. It is also a perfect mirror for the gregarious personality of the winemakers. Ludwig and Sandra are some of the most generous and open-hearted people you will ever meet, and it shows in their wine. It has a robust structure, with a generous, fruit-driven juiciness on the palate.

This is a wonderfully accessible, modern wine from one of Germany's oldest known grape varieties. It's simply delicious for the casual wine drinker and a new discovery even for many experienced wine lovers.

THE FRANKEN REGION

Dramatic limestone cliffs along the Main river, such as these in Stettener Stein, form the foundation of the vineyards in this part of the Franken region and give the wines their characteristic minerality. It is also one of the warmest and driest regions of Germany, which accounts for the extraordinary ripeness that can be achieved here.
